

Asha Patel Designs

November 30, 2010

What to wear for all these upcoming holiday events?? URG, everything looks so unflattering in the cold months...I need a tan! Thinking some tights, my go-to jean skirt, my "wear them everyday" boots, and some sort of red/black festive turtleneck! I'll put something together and hope our family and friends do not mind me wearing the same outfit for each event! Accessories I've got covered though, new bracelets from Asha Patel Designs arrived recently that will go with anything I wear!

The cuffs from Asha Patel are my all time fav!! My sample gold leather metallic one is stunning, so high in quality and goes with casual or dressy! If you're not a bracelet person per say, like me, cuffs will change your outlook!

For a daintier piece, the Sanskirt bracelets {ID bracelets} are ideal {necklaces too!} Asha (Hope), Shanti (Peace) and Devi (Goddess); thinking perfect gifts for the young ladies in your life this season!

The Asha Patel Designs collections are as unique as you can get, specializing in a line of products that not only stand out when worn, but supply a message as true as the woman behind the piece! Give the gift of "Peace" (Shanti) and spread the joy behind Asha Patel!
